Walter Maxey, son of Edward and Susannah, was born in Virginia. By his father's will he received, after his mother's death, half of the land on which they lived in Goochland County, Virginia. This part of Goochland later became part of Cumberland County. There is a deed dated 12 April 1748 in Goochland County, Book 5/400-401 by which his brother, Silvanus, conveyed to Walter the remaining 200 acres of land.

According to The Maxey's of Virginia Vol. 2, the following letter appeared in the Maxey Family Reunion Bulletin in 1961 and was written by Mae A. Maxey of Hardy Virginia, now deceased:

"The Maxey Cemetery containing the unmarked graves of Wal Maxey, Sr. who died in 1791 and near kin....is located on the old Maxey Plantation on a sloping hillside overlooking the Blackwater River in Franklin Co., Va. Their remains are to be removed and reinterred on a plot at Mt. Ivy Baptist Church which is a very fitting location as it is in the general vicinity in which they lived and died and more accessible to travel. Their peaceful slumbers are being interrupted by the rising waters of Smith Mountain Lake formed by a dam that is being constructed a few miles below by Appalachian Power Company. All expense of plot, removal and reinterment is being taken care of by the power company. Descendants of this brave and courageous tribe of Maxey's are scattered in many states now and a few in foreign countries."
