STEPH ALLEN

[This Captain William Barker was of the parish of Ratcliffe in the County of Middlesex, England, near London and the River Thames. The Lizard is the last lighthousepoint on the southwest coast of England, near Land's End.]

This record indicates that the William was on the point of departure for London, and that Mr. Richard Wright did not sail in her. But within nine days of her departure, he had contracted to sail for Europe in the William, upon her return, and to take a cargo of tobacco. If he failed Page 314 to have the vessel back in Virginia in time to sail again for England by the end of the following February, he contracted to go in whatever other vessel he might have ready or could charter. The crop of tobacco to be transported was the one which Hugh Lee (founder of one of the Lee families of Virginia) was planning to plant, cure, and pack during the year 1656:

HUGH LEE [the seale]

Scaled & delivered in the prsence of WM BARKER (ye marke), SETH
FFOSTER. 26 May 1658 this Writeing was Recorded

In his indicating himself on May 29, 1656, as "of London," "homeward bound," is reflected the fact that Mr. Richard Wright had not then married or definitely decided to make Virginia his permanent home. He had then been present in America but little over a year. The fifteen tons of tobacco of this contract to be transported to Holland at ¶8 per ton meant for Richard Wright, by the present monetary standard, over $2,000. Thus his percentage of profit was very large-- much larger than the profit of the tobacco grower, so high per ton was the freight rate.

But the first day of the following March, 1656, duly arrived and found both Mr. Wright and Mr. Lee's tobacco still on Virginia soil. During the interim, important events had happily come about. "Mistress Ann Mottrom" and Mr. Richard Wright had married. Because of the added responsibilities of the Mottrom estate, the young husband was two months late in sailing with his cargo if he intended to sail in March; the ship seems to have been the William, though Captain Barker may have been succeeded by Page 315

"Capt. Wm Whittington," at least while the ship was visiting the ports of Holland.

Although both Wright and Lee were under bonds in £200, the one to have the ship at hand in Virginia, the other to have his sixty great hogsheads of tobacco ready on the shore in March, 1656/7, there appears to have been no claim made by either party against the other before the ship finally sailed. Madam Lee, the wife of Hugh Lee, Gent., engaged for herself passage to Holland in this same ship with Mr. Wright, whom she was to pay for her passage and the freight for the tobacco upon their safe arrival in Europe, "the danger of the seas excepted."

On May 7, 1657, Richard Wright concluded some of his affairs in Virginia and made ready to embark for Europe. On November 1, 1656, preceding, the ship William was in the port of London, England, on which day her master, Captain Barker, there witnessed and received from Miles Cooke a letter for the latter's "trusty & welbeloved friend Richard Wright, Merchant," which Captain Barker afterward delivered at Chicacoan. The powers conveyed by this letter not having been fully exercised by Mr. Richard Wright up to May 7, 1657, he delegated them to his young wife, and on the same day transferred to her and his attorney authority to act in Virginia in his absence abroad.

The hazards of a sea voyage then were not merely those of bad weather; pirates were the greater danger. Every ship that sailed to or from Virginia faced the prospect of a fight with pirates, and was armed. The Turks, Moors, and other marauders from the Barbary coast of northern Africa roamed at large upon the Atlantic. As late as 1682 these "land and sea robbers" entered Chesapeake Bay. At this time, Mr. Richard Wright's brother-in-law, Colonel Nicholas Spencer, then Secretary of the Colony, wrote to the English Secretary of State that the pirates were so strong that it would be foolish for the Virginians to attack them. [British Colonial Papers, Vol. I, No. 30.] Captain Kidd was at the acme of his career in 1699, and as late as the year 1700 a ship arriving from England had a desperate fight with pirates in Lynnhaven Bay near the present city of Norfolk, Virginia. Therefore, it is not surprising that freight rates were so high that the profit of a successful voyage was enormous. Dauntless, nevertheless, were the men, like Richard Wright, who attempted the voyages. "The little band of sea-captains, who were annually voyaging backwards and forwards . . . were a body of superior men, who were freely admitted to the tables of the foremost planters." [Bruce's Social Life, p. 147.]

The young and adventurous mariner-merchant had an interesting story to tell how the unbusinesslike Madam Lee misunderstood her obligations to him with respect to the payments for her passage and for the "fraught" of the tobacco. Unfortunately for her, he was obliged to relate his experiences with her in Holland Page 317 and England before the justices of the County Court of Northumberland. She had also returned to Virginia, though in a different vessel. The action was precipitated by the lady's husband, who may have imagined that the failure of Wright to depart for England before May 7, 1657, might excuse Madam Lee's actions in Holland. The record reads:

[Northumberland County, Order Book, 1652-1665, p. 84]:

MR HUGH LEE | Hannah Lee ye AGT. | Wife & Attorney MR RICHARD WRIGHT | of Mr Hugh Lee being arrested to this Cort at the suite of Mr Richard Wright hee not declaring agt the sd Mrs Lee It is therefore ordered that the sd Mr Wright be Non-suited and shall forthwith pay 50 li of Tobco to the sd Mrs Lee with Cort charges als Execucon. Mr. Wright produced valuable evidence, viz.:

We are talking about the same LEE line. Hugh Lee (I) "The Immigrant" was married to Hannah Huett (Hewett) who was the widow of Robert Huitt (many spellings found for Hewitt). Hugh (I) was born in 1609 (Baptismal Record 10-15-1609) in Cheshire, England. He married Hannah about 1648-50. Hugh (I) had died by 1661 when Hannah had taken over Hugh's shipping business and had remarried. It was thought that Hugh (I) was the father of Hugh Lee, Sr. (II), who was married to Ann Harrison (possibly Barnett), but that still has yet to be proven so we aren't sure if Hugh (I) is related to us. Our first record of Hugh Lee (I) in America is in 1645 in Kent Island and St. Mary's Co. In 1648, Hugh Lee and John Pites witnessed the will of George Higgins. The case you mention of John Barnes having given Charles Ashton's maid the pox is found in Beverly Fleet's VIRGINIA COLONIAL ABSTRACTS, VOL. I, NORTHUMBERLAND COUNTY RECORDS, 1652-1655 and that record also states that Hugh and Hannah Lee both gave their depositions in the case on 20 May 1653. Hugh Lee, Jr. (III) (born ca 1670; died 1739 in Prince George Co., VA), was also married to an Ann (Tatum). Ann Tatum was the daughter of Samuel and Mary Tatum. Hugh (III) came to Charles City Co., VA about 1673 with his parents, Hugh Lee, Sr. (II), and Ann Harrison Lee. Counting Hugh Lee (I) there were four Hugh Lees in succession in our LEE line. Hugh (III) also had a son named Hugh. If I can help with anything on our LEE line, contact me at mackl@flash.net and I'll be happy to go into more detail if you need it.

I have a William LEE who died in 1761 in Brunswick Co VA. He was married to Rebecca ? his son Peter Lee married Elizabeth Lunday and is believe to be the father of Peter Lee born Sampson Co NC who is the documented grandson of William Lee. Peter's son was Cato Lee who married Nancy Holland. Do you think William is related to your Lee of Brunswick Co.?

Debi,

Your William Lee (Sr.) (born 1691-6, Prince George Co., VA, died May, 1761, Brunswick Co., VA. Will was proved in court, May 26, 1761) was married to REBECCA BURCHETT (born 1698, Bristol Parish, Prince George Co., VA). William Lee, Sr., had no brothers, nephews or sons named David. He did have a grandson named David but he was born in 1746

(son of William Lee, Jr.) and a great-grandson named David that was born in 1755 (son of Peter Lee, Jr., who was married to Mary Cato. Of course, Peter, Jr., and Mary had a son named Peter that was named Peter, Jr., who also had a son named Peter. Yes, it gets a little confusing.).

Hello Debi, Mack is right. William had at least two sons One of which was William, Jr. who married Ann Westbrook. He was born in 1720 and died in Sampson Co., NC in Aug. 1797. The had a son named David born Jan. 17 1746, married to Martha Blackman. David died Aug. 27, 1812. They had a son named Jessie born March 16, 1768, who married Susannah in 1812. The other son Of William and Rebecca was Peter who married Elizabeth He died in Va. at the Isle of Wight. I don't have dates for Peter's birth or death. He had a son named Peter in 1730 and married Mary Cato who was born in Brunswick Co., NC Peter died in 1804. They had a son named David on Nov, 15, 1755, who married Ann

Eldridge daughter of Samuel. They lived in Isle of Eight Va. until his death in 1831. My family comes from both sides, my parents originate from both Long and Short David which I assume are the David from William and the David from Peter Jr. Of course my parents had no idea ..they made the third time that this family came together in marriage. We originated from some great people, Debi. I hope this info will help you find your roots.....Have fun and if I can help you more please let me know. Betty Lee Roybal

LEE family OF SAMPSON CO. NC. My husband's family belongs to the above Lee family. He descended from David "Long David" Lee, born Jan 17, 1745/46, married Martha Blackman. Then Jesse Lee, Sr., born March 16, 1831, Johnston Co., NC. Jesse married Elizabeth (Betsy) Blackman born Mar. 19, 1767 (also Susannah Langston). Down to Joab Lee, Sr. born July 25, 1787, Sampson Co., NC, who married Bethenia Blackman. Down to Jesse Lee, Sr. who married Henrietta Tart. We have the bare bones and any embellishment we can find on the family would be appreciated. There's a Johnson/Lee

Reunion every April at Calvary Baptist Church on 55 highway out from Dunn, Harnett Co., NC. This reunion traces this family tree. Thanks for any help. JJ

Betty, Peter Lee who married Elizabeth Lundy was born about 1714/15 and had died by March of 1738. Apparently died very young and the reason we only find one child for them, Peter, Jr. We show that William, Jr., who married Ann Westbrook was born about 1715 and did die about 1794/7. Besides Peter and William, Jr., William Lee, Sr., and Rebecca Burchett also had five other children. They were James (born 1717), Amy (born 1719), Elizabeth (born 1720), Ann (born 1722), and Rebecca (born 1724). We have a little more information on these five children. Contact me if you would like to compare notes.

Hello Debi, Mack is right . William had at least two sons One of which was William, Jr. who married Ann Westbrook.was born in 1720 and died in Sampson Co., NC in Aug. 1797. The had a son name David born Jan.17 1746 married to Martha Blackman.David died Aug.27,1812. They had a son named Jessie born March 16,1768 who married Susannah in 1812. The other son Of William and Rebecca was Peter who married Elizabeth He died in Va. at the Isle of Wight.I don't have dates for Peters birth or death. He ha a son named Peter in 1730 an married Mary Cato who was born in Brunswick co. NC

Peter died in 1804. They had a son named David on Nov.15,1755, who married Ann Eldridge daughter of Samuel. they lived in Isle of Wight, VA until his death in 1831. My family comes from both sides, my parents originate form both Long and Short David which I assume my parents had no idea ..they made the third time that this family came together in marriage.We originated from some great people, Debi.

I hope this info will help you find your roots.....Have fun and if I can help you more please let me know. Betty Lee Roybal

Our Lee line is pretty well documented. The best I can tell from your postings of names and dates is that our Lee lines are not related. Our William Lee, Sr.'s (born ca 1691-6 in Prince George Co., VA; died May, 1761. His will was proved in court on May 26, 1761 in Brunswick Co., VA; married Rebecca Burchett, born 1698 in Bristol Parish, Prince George Co., VA) father was Hugh Lee (III) who's father was Hugh Lee (II) who's father was Hugh Lee (I) "The Immigrant." Look at the posting I left for Debi Murphy that has more details on the Hugh and William Lees. There was no William Lee in our line before William Lee, Sr. and our William Lee, Sr. did not have a grandson named John.

[The Blackmans of Sampson County by Jerome Tew]

A mystery lady from the family of Joseph and Elizabeth Blackman was Elizabeth Blackman born 18 March 1767. She was their sixth child. She died Christmas day in 1811. She was not in the family Will. She is identified in Lee Family Records. She married Jesse Lee (1767-1831). She had Polly Lee 1787-c1825 who married Kader Blackman. They had Powell Blackman (1810). Elizabeth also had Joab Lee 1790, Pharaoh Lee 1792, Joseph Lee 1794, Elizabeth (Betsey) Lee 1797, John Lee in 1801 and Joel Lee in 1807. Jesse Lee married 2nd, Susanna Langston in 1812 and had at least five more children. I am unsure about Pharaoh Lee. Another may have been Josiah. Jesse Lee had two daughters named Elizabeth, one by each wife. Elizabeth (1797) married Samuel Ingram. Elizabeth (c1815) married Joseph Blackman (1812), the son of Kader and Polly Lee Blackman.

NOTE:

Sometime after Jerome Tew wrote this article he wrote that he could not identify who the unknown daughter of Joseph Blackman and Elizabeth Lee was.

Elaine, there is an Elizabeth Blackman (born 3-18-1767, died 12-25-1811) that married Jessie Lee, Sr., who is in my direct line of ancestors. Elizabeth's parents were Joseph and Elizabeth Blackman. One of Jesse and Elizabeth's daughters was Mary "Polly" Lee who married Cader Blackman. Polly and Cader had a son named Powell Blackman (born 1810) that had three children named Allis Lee Blackman (born 1838), John Lee Blackman (born 1840), and William Lee Blackman (born 1842). One of Jesse and Elizabeth's sons was Joab Lee whose second wife was Bethenea Blackman (born 7-29-1808, died 4-11-1890). Jesse Lee, Sr's, parents were David Lee and Martha Blackman (died 1815/16) All of these ancestors lived in Sampson and Johnston Counties, NC. I just wondered if any of these Blackman's were related to you and if we might be very distant cousins.

According to the book, "William and Peter Lee", page 19, by Lang and Long, Elizabeth Blackman was the wife of Jesse Lee and daughter of Joseph Blackman. The book lists the birth and death dates of Elizabeth as follows: Born: 18 March 1767, Died: 25 December 1811. Jesse married second in 1812, Susannah Langston.
